

SUSPENSION OF PUBLICATION

The Manchester Guardian (1901-1959); May 4, 1926;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Guardian and The Observer

pg. 8

SUSPENSION OF PUBLICATION.

We regret to state that in consequence of the strike of certain unions connected with the printing trade it is probable that the "Manchester Guardian" will be compelled to suspend publication to-day until further notice. In that case a small typescript sheet of news and comment will be sent free to postal subscribers and on prepayment of postage to any other of our readers who may send a request to the Manager to that effect. Copies may also be obtained at the "Guardian" Office.